

Needlemaking through the ages - from Tradition to Technology

Do you know how a needle is made?

This is a unique group tour package looking at how a needle was made in Victorian times contrasted with a tour of modern needle production at the Entaco Factory.

Expert guides will take you round our historic mill, bringing to life the fascinating and sometimes gruesome story of the humble needle. The second part of the tour takes place at Entaco who show how their best-selling needles, the John James brand, are now produced and you will see why their reputation for quality and reliability is recognised by needlecrafters around the globe.

POINTS TO NOTE

- A light buffet lunch can be pre-booked
- Entaco is approx. 4.5 miles from Forge Mill (directions on reverse)
- The tours at each site take just under an hour
- Free parking at both sites
